

Sales, Repair, Maintenance & Calibration Services
For Scientific Instruments

Scientific Refrigeration Technician Cambridge, MA

Description

AL-TAR Services is looking for an energetic and highly organized team member to work with our supportive team at our Cambridge, MA location. The primary focus will be Scientific Refrigeration Maintenance and Repair at our shop and customer sites. A conscientious, proactive attitude and devotion for customer service is required. At AL-TAR, we've continually empowered our employees to develop their skills and advance in their careers. It's our philosophy, along with our uncompromising commitment to customer satisfaction that has made AL-TAR a success and a great place to work.

We currently have an immediate opening for a Scientific Refrigeration Technician.

Responsibilities will include:

- Perform Corrective Maintenance, Preventive Maintenance, Calibration, and installation on all types of controlled temperature devices found in hospitals, laboratories and pharmaceutical companies
- Perform mechanical repairs
- Perform electrical repairs
- Reclaim refrigerant
- Read wiring and refrigeration diagrams and diagnose defects
- Check for leaks and repair leaks
- Replace compressors and most refrigeration parts
- Field repair of failed instruments

Qualifications and Skills

- Formal refrigeration training + 2 years of experience
- HVACR Trade School completion
- Universal EPA certification
- Ability to work independently
- Must have demonstrated electrical and refrigeration troubleshooting experience
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills and ability to interface professionally with customers.
- Low Temp refrigeration experience preferred.
- Must have clean driving record.
- Must be able to pass background check

Sales, Repair, Maintenance & Calibration Services
For Scientific Instruments

AL-TAR offers a competitive salary and benefits program which includes:

- Medical Insurance
- PTO
- 401(k)
- Company truck provided
- Special training included
- Long term and steady employment
- Tuition reimbursement

AL-TAR Services, Inc is an Equal Opportunity Employer. We encourage qualified minority, female, veteran and disabled candidates to apply and be considered for open positions.